

To whom it may concern,

My name is Julie Cortese and I have had the pleasure of working alongside Daniel Pellito over the course of the last school year. As Daniel's colleague, I've benefited from his creative problem-solving, amazing classroom management skills, and willingness to do whatever it takes to ensure that our students are learning and are successful.

Daniel was my lead teacher in the science department at Trinity Academy for Performing Arts. He is directly responsible for ensuring that our department ran smoothly by utilizing different standards that enabled the entire department to successfully and easily educate our students. He is always available for assistance when needed and does a fantastic job at solving any problem that may arise within our department.

As a colleague and co-teacher, Daniel is incredibly generous with his time and expertise, which is thanks to his 8 years of teaching experience. Beyond that, as his co-worker, I have to say that his humor and good nature makes long days and grading deadlines much easier and more enjoyable. The students also enjoy his classes due to his engaging lessons and stellar classroom management skills.

I'd be happy to answer any questions you might have about his specific skills and experience.

Thanks, and best regards,

Julie Cortese
